1) ADEQUACY OF THE VENUE

2) CLARITY OF AUDIOVISUALS

As per the feedback received, the Programme could be considered a great success with valuable information given concisely and in a way all could assimilate and understand. The flaws that were noted include:

- Venue inadequate to accommodate all the participants.
- Need A/C for the auditorium.
- Lack of clarity of the audiovisuals.
- The need for the provision of lunch for such long Programme.

Even after the mention of the above short comings the Programme could be considered a great mark in the activities of PCDS and the participants showed eagerness in having such programs in the future. Thus, we believe we could fulfill the motto of the Programme, “IGNITE - lighting the torch of knowledge”.

As per the feedback received the program could be considered a great success with valuable information given concisely and in a way that all could assimilate and understand .The flaws that were noted included

- The need for air conditioning of the venue.
- The need for better provision for food and refreshments.

Even after mentioning the above shortcomings the programs should be considered a great mark in the activities of PCDS.The participants showed the eagerness in having such programs in the future.

IGNITE SESSION 5:
BASIC LIFE SUPPORT
REPORT

As a part of the college curriculum, a one-day course on 'basic life support' for health providers was held at Pushpagiri College of Dental Sciences. The course was organized by the interns of Pushpagiri College of Dental Sciences, being guided by the staff co-ordinator, Dr Vinod Mathew Mulamootil, from the department of Public Health Dentistry. The course was scheduled on 1st September, 2016. It was conducted by 5 members of Indian Institute of Emergency Medical Services (IEMS).

The main objective of conducting this course was to train the health care providers here and make them eligible for providing basic life support measures in emergency situations that they might encounter. The number of participants allowed to attend the course was 33.

The course began with an explanation of what basic life support is and its application in an emergency situation like cardiac arrest by Rev. Fr. Mathew Vadakkekuttu. There were 3 sessions – morning, afternoon and evening. The morning session was on the BLS measures on adult patients and children. The afternoon session was on the BLS measures on infants. And finally an examination was conducted to evaluate the participants.

The course included practical sessions for the participants, which were explained and demonstrated step by step by the members of IEMS. A video was played, which accurately illustrated the application of BLS measures on a collapsed patient in public places as well as in a hospital. The main principle in BLS is the maintenance of airway, breathing and circulation (A-B-C) in an unconscious patient mainly by cardiac arrest or respiratory cause.

For the practical session, all the necessary materials including dummy's and ambu bags were supplied by the team. The use of AED and the method of its application were also explained. BLS by a single person as well as by 2 persons were demonstrated. During the practical session, each participant was assisted by the IEMS members to ensure that they are doing it accurately and also to clear their doubts.

Following the morning session, lunch was arranged for an hour. The course continued with the afternoon session and finally concluded with an examination – both theory and practical which was mandatory. At the end of the course, certificates with two-year validity were distributed to the participants who were eligible.
